BIPLANE LOSES HEAT IN RACE WITH AUTO

Oldfield Makes Fast Time with Car—Crowd Gasp at Daring Air Exhibition.

For more than two hours Lincoln Beachey, daredevil aviator, and Barney Oldfield, driver of racing automobiles, kept a throng in a state of excitement at Brighton Beach track yesterday afternoon.

Beachey had promised to cut capers in the sky, "rain, shine or cyclone," but fortune favored him, and his hair-raising performance was staged against a clear sky and in air untroubled by anything more than a gentle breeze.

The old illusion that an aeroplane cannot tip over without falling was completely dispelled. Beachey turned somersaults, dropped thousands of feet, flew upside down and floundered about in the clear air until the spectators were dizzy.

Oldfield drove his Fiat, Cyclone and Christie cars around the track at a high speed. His best time for one mile was 51.25 seconds.

Oldfield opened the big show by making a mile in 54 seconds, but at the finish he announced that the clutch had been slipping and had his mechanics remedy the trouble. He then went out and made the fast time given above.

Then Beachey took his little biplane out for a trial flight and dashed about the field for ten minutes. A group of photographers was thrown into consternation when Beachey shot from a height of 300 feet directly at their heads.

With one accord they dropped their cameras and fell flat on the ground. A second later they scrambled to their feet, while the smiling Beachey suddenly leaped skyward again.

The band was playing merrily when "Bill" Pickens, master of ceremonies, picked up the megaphone and announced the first thriller. He said that Beachey and Oldfield would race for the championship of the universe.

While Beachey's mechanics turned over the powerful Gnome motor Oldfield's helpers cranked the big Fiat Cyclone.

Beachey got a little the better of the start, and while he finished the mile in advance of his opponent the first heat of the race was given to Oldfield; time, 53.25 seconds. Oldfield then went out for a record in his 300-horsepower Christie and did the first three-quarters in 24.2 seconds, but on the last quarter his motor became flooded and, with great tongues of flame enveloping the car, he limped home; time for the mile, 54 seconds.

Beachey stepped into his machine then and sailed aloft, climbing skyward at a steep angle. When he had reached an altitude of 2,000 feet he cut out his motor and the machine fell, tail downward for more than a thousand feet.

Just as the spectators were gasping in the firm belief that the aviator was doomed Beachey executed a sort of side flip, and once more the motor took up its hum as the machine sped aloft again.

This time he did the famous loop. Here, and there he darted, first flying on a level, next rushing at lightning speed toward the earth, then plunging head downward, and doing corkscrew spirals with the same ease as though he were flying in a normal position. Four times the daring flyer looped the loop, turning over cleanly and completely.

Many of the women turned their heads away, but the fascination of the flights was too strong, and they had to watch the machine in spite of themselves.

Twelve minutes from the time Beachey took the air he landed, lightly as a feather, in front of the grandstand.

While the crowd shouted applause Beachey, looking immaculate and unruffled, jumped into an automobile and was whisked away.

This afternoon and to-morrow the same performances will be repeated, with variations.

HOLD SILK MERCHANTS

Girl Testifies Against Gradinger Brothers.

On the story of Miss Helen Werseithier, the pretty eighteen-year-old bookkeeper of the firm, Borah, Harry and Morris Gradinger, silk merchants, of 21 East 23d st., were held in 20,000 dollar bonds by United States Commissioner Houghton, charged with concealing $2,000,000 worth of assets in a series of bankruptcies during the last five years.

The bookkeeper broke down on the stand under sharp cross-examination. She admitted that the Gradingers had coached her to testify so that their spiriting away of the firm's assets in the last bankruptcy did not appear on the books.

ICEBERGS MENACE LINER MAURETANIA

Liner France Also Reports Ledges in Southern Travel Lanes.

The Cunard liner Mauretania, from Liverpool, and the French steamship France reported on arrival yesterday that ice was making its way south unpleasantly close to the westbound transatlantic lanes. As all steamships between New York and European ports are using the long, or southerly, course at this season, the ice they reported has drifted further south than usual.

The berg, which looked like a great frost-cathedral, was sighted from the Mauretania's bridge by W. C. Battle, the chief officer. Although it was plainly visible to the navigating officer, who changed the course of the Mauretania to the south so that she got well away from any submerged ledge.

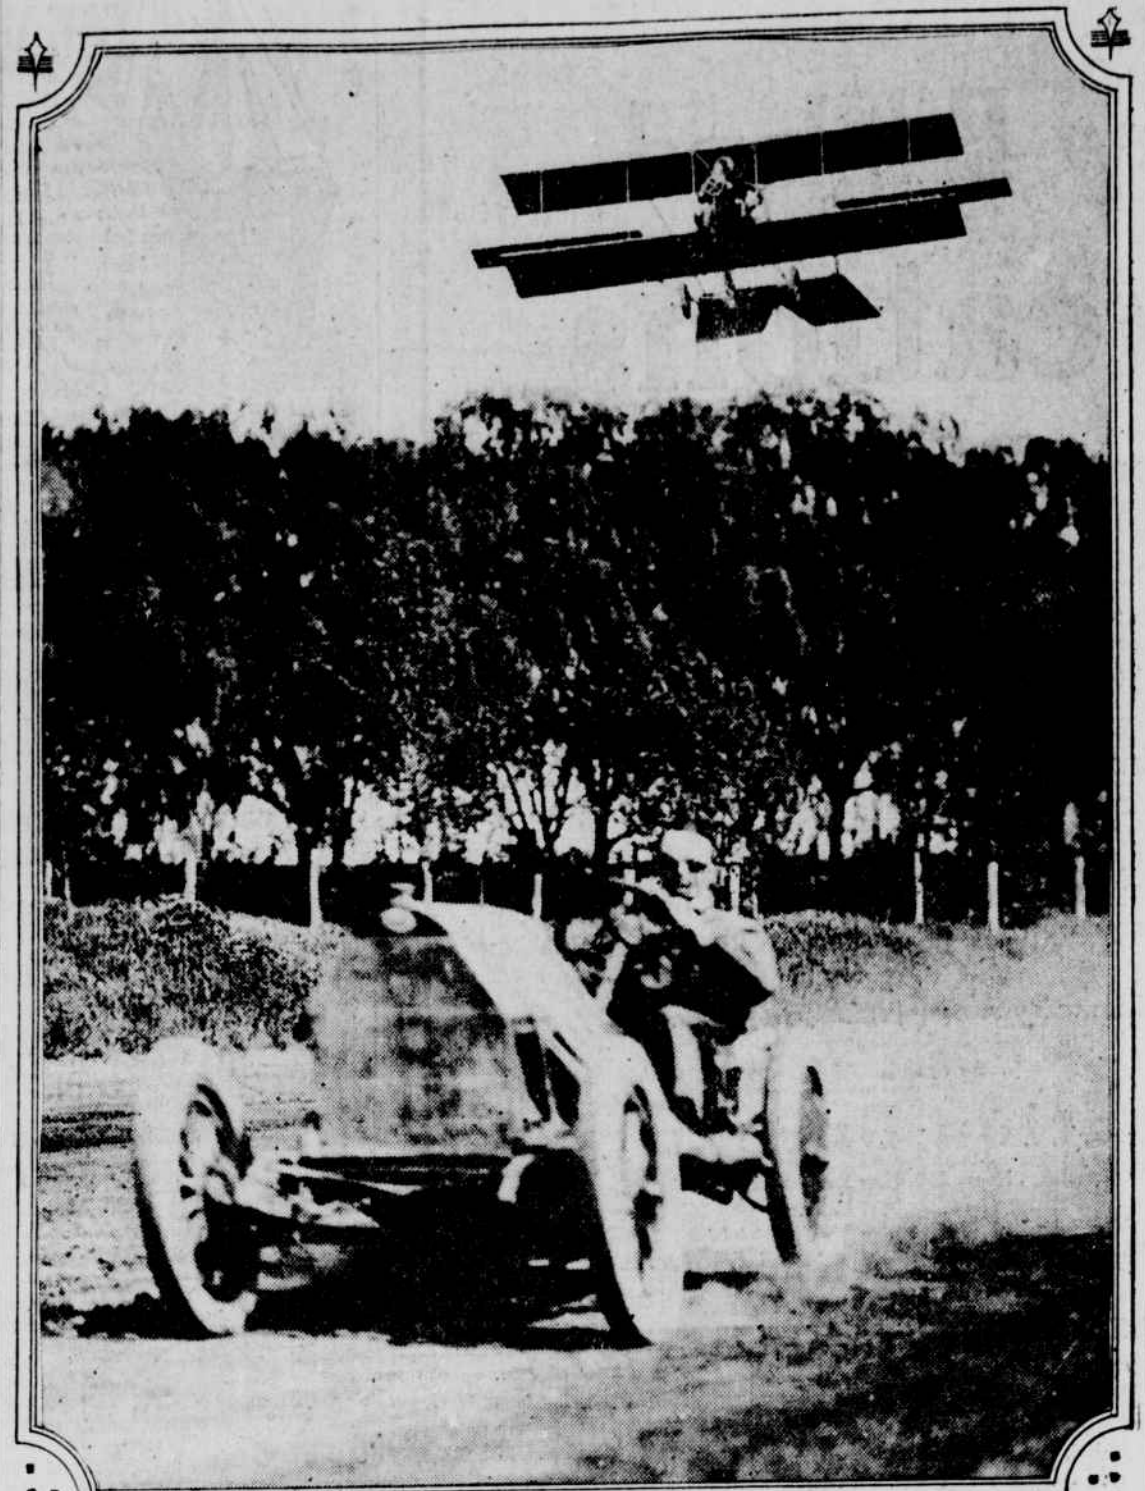

The France, some two hundred miles astern of the Mauretania, passed by three big bergs on Wednesday morning.

Close Bridge Roadway.

Bridge Commissioner Kracke announced yesterday that, beginning Monday morning, the north roadway of the Brooklyn Bridge would be closed for vehicular traffic. This step is being made necessary by the connection that is being made between the elevated tracks on the bridge and the Centre st. subway. The work will be done by August 15, according to the estimates of the engineers.

Trolley and elevated traffic over the bridge will not be interrupted.

TWO JUMP TO DEATH FROM SAME BRIDGE

Middle-Aged Man and Youth
Leap from Manhattan
Span.

A middle-aged man and a young fellow in his early twenties took the same route to death yesterday, leaping from the highest point of Manhattan Bridge within three hours of each other. The body of the elder was recovered. The harbor police are still searching for the younger, who may have been R. Hayeck, or "Mr. Schmidt," 155 West 25th st.

The young man had a card of the Novelty Post Card Company, 50 Church st., in his pocket, but there it was said he was not known. He was about twenty-two years old, and appeared on the bridge about 1 o'clock. Christian Schmidt, of 150 Wyckoff av., Brooklyn, saw him partially disrobe, climb over the rail and jump. The body splashed as it struck the East River and did not come to the surface.

The earlier victim walked over the bridge shortly after 10 o'clock. No one was near him when he made his leap, but the body was seen to twist and turn in the air, strike the water, disappear, and come to the surface again.

Captain Peter Fisher, of the scow Myrtle, saw it too and was close by with a grappling hook when the body came up the second time.

ENGINE STOPS IN MIDAIR

Brown Glides Safely to River with Woman Passenger.

Mrs. George E. Dickinson, of Irvington, tasted a few of the thrills of flying yesterday afternoon while hydro-aeroplaning with Ralph M. Brown, near Dobbs Ferry. About fifteen hundred feet above the Hudson River engine trouble developed. Brown shut off the power and succeeded in veering to the water. John M. Lange, formerly chief of the Fire Department at Dobbs Ferry, saw them and effected a rescue in his motor boat.

A few days ago Brown took Mrs. Charles S. Whitman up for a flight. He expects to take up the Duke of Manchester today.

There was a stir at Dobbs Ferry yesterday morning when Miss Beatty, secretary to A. F. Barnes, an official of the Wright company, went for a fifteen-minute flight with Brown in a Thomas flying boat. The stir was due to the fact that Miss Beatty is an ardent Wright fan, and the Thomas boat is an infighting machine. Following Miss Beatty's flight Miss Adel Hays, recording secretary of the Aeronautical Society, and E. La Rue Jones went for short trips in the air.

HOLDS SONS UNDER SPELL

Woman Keeps Three Grown
Children in Bed for Years.

Gloversville, N. Y., May 22.—Mrs. John Bennett, who for years has kept three grown sons in bed under a strange hypnotic spell at her home in Hope, Hamilton County, was today sent to the insane asylum at Utica. The sons, George, thirty-five years old; Ward, thirty-one, and Frank, thirty, are still in bed and say they cannot get up, although five physicians declare nothing is the matter with them except the weakness brought on by their long confinement. George has been in bed eleven years; Ward, thirteen, and Frank, nine.

The family has means, and no way could be found to aid the men until Dr. Avery, of Northville, managed to get Mrs. Bennett to lay aside the gun with which she guarded her sons and tested her sanity.

HOPE FOR MRS. FLAVELLE

Woman Shot in Italy To Be Tended by Famous Surgeon.

(By Cable to The Tribune.)
Rome, May 22.—The condition of Mrs. Flavella, the American woman shot in a train at Arezzo, was slightly more favorable today, and there are hopes that her life will be saved. Her nephew, Dr. Noyes, of Chicago, telegraphed to Bastianelli, the celebrated Italian surgeon, and he left Rome today prepared to operate if necessary. A sister of the American Consul in Florence, who is a trained nurse, and two other American women are caring for Mrs. Flavella.

The police expect soon to arrest the assailant, of whom they have an excellent description. He is already known throughout Italy as "The Man in Blue." He was seen to leave the train on the wrong side and to walk through the station restaurant to the express train for Florence.

PARROTS TO GO, CLEAN-UP EDICT

Two Birds Annoy Nightworkers is Complaint — "Spotless Town" Due To-night.

The actual "clean-up week" comes to an end to-night, but Department of Health officials expect that there will be a certain amount of surplus rubbish to remove for a week more. According to estimates, this year's crusade brought out about 60 per cent of the amount which found its way to the dumps in the campaign of a year ago.

Two parrots in Harlem figured in the clean-up yesterday. Facing each other in windows that looked out on a court, the birds had made life miserable for two men who said they were nightworkers. A complaint made to the Health Department yesterday said that the parrots had a good command of billingsgate.

In an official report filed later the fate of the offending parrots was set forth with all due formality. They were ordered deported.

Not all the rubbish has reached the trash piles, so the officials report. A woman in the Washington Heights section protested that after having set out a goodly pile of rubbish a band of youngsters came by, scattered the material and carried away a good deal of it.

The police have been trying to put a stop to this practice, which also developed in other sections of the city.

COMSTOCK'S MEMORY LONG

Appears Against Man He Had Arrested 25 Years Ago.

Anthony Comstock, head of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, was a witness yesterday against William C. York, Superintendent of the Municipal Lodging House, who is being tried on charges made by Commissioner Kingsbury of the Charities Department.

Mr. Comstock stated that he was instrumental in securing two indictments against York for selling lottery tickets and keeping a gambling house in 1888.

David Rutledge, a former patrolman, said he remembered having looked York up in 1875 on a charge preferred by Mr. Comstock.

HOSPITAL PROBE AT ONCE

Attorney General Appoints
Deputy to Act as Attorney.

Albany, May 22.—An investigation of the conduct of all state hospitals with reference to allegations of John H. DeLaney, head of the Department of Efficiency and Economy, will be begun next Monday by the State Hospital Commission. The first hearing will be held at the Utica State Hospital. At the request of the commission Attorney General Carmody today named one of his deputies, August Merrill, to act as attorney for the body.

LINDSEY PLEADS WITH ROCKEFELLER

Visits Financier at Pocantico, but Finds No Change in Anti-Mediation Plan.

Trinidad, Col., May 22.—Colonel James Lockett, in command of the federal military forces in Colorado, to-day began to distribute to the aliens in the southern coal fields a pamphlet urging them to become naturalized citizens.

Washington, May 22.—Hope that a solution of the Colorado strike situation might be found as a result of the work being done by two men sent to the scene by Secretary of Labor Wilson was expressed by the Secretary at the Cabinet meeting to-day.

Judge Lindsey's suggestion that the federal government take complete control of the situation also was discussed by the Cabinet.

This is the report that has been prevalent in the hills and Tarrytown. Workmen who have seen the Rockefeller recently say that while the elder travels about the country apparently without fear his son is much affected by the Colorado troubles.

Judge Lindsey hopes that the younger man will give him every opportunity to prove his contention that the only solution of the difficulty is arbitration.

Concessions may be made, but those close to the financier say the principle he is fighting for will prevent any conciliation.

The younger Rockefeller has not ventured a hundred feet away from the house in a month except under the strictest guard.

Arthur Caron failed again yesterday in an attempt to get into the Rockefeller grounds. John Wirth, president of North Tarrytown, refused his application to hold a mass meeting near the estate.

Colorado Court Martial

OBJECT TO REMARKS
ON LUDLOW BATTLE

U. S. Army Colonel Urges Strikers to Become Citizens—Cabinet Discusses Plans.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Denver, May 22.—Judge Ben R. Lindsey may be called before a national guard court martial to explain the statements he is quoted as making in speeches at meetings in the East concerning incidents in the Ludlow battle on April 20. The court martial in session at Golden to-day took steps looking toward the summoning of the judge, when it voted unanimously to subpoena Mrs. Alma Lafferty, former Representative in the Colorado Legislature and active in the Women's Peace Association, to testify as to what she learned about the Ludlow fight.

Major A. H. Williams, member of the court, proposed the summoning of Mrs.
Lafferty. He said she had been "making more noise than any one else in the State of Colorado" and that he wanted her placed under oath "to show that she did not know anything about what she had been making so much noise."

He added that if she appeared and confessed she had no personal knowledge of the battle she might be compelled to tell where she heard the statements she has been giving to the public. Then, he said, the court might proceed against her informants.

A member of the court explained after adjournment that the real intent of the move was to reach Judge Lindsey.

A formal order was made to arrest Mrs.
Lafferty if she refused to answer the subpoena. Besides Mrs. Lafferty, two other women—Mrs. Pearl Jolly and Mrs.
Thomas, both of whom went to Washington to appear before President Wilson in behalf of the strikers—figured in the court martial proceedings.

Bitter attacks on their reputations were made. Lieutenant L. B. Elliott, in the trial of Captain T. C. Linderfelt, swore that Mrs. Jolly and Mrs. Thomas were the leaders in abusing the guardsmen.
He said they cursed the men and urged the children to use language such as no man would use.

Much of his testimony dealt with the alleged friendship between Mrs. Jolly and Louis Tikas, her neighbor, who was killed in the battle.

BEAR CHASES NEW YORKER Murgatroyd, Disarmed, Escapes and Guide Kills Beast.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Cody, Wyo., May 22.—In a fight with a grizzly bear on Table Mountain, according to a message just received here, Joe Jones, guide for a New York hunting party, was severely wounded, but killed the animal after John Murgatroyd, expert taxidermist, had been forced to flee.

Jones and Murgatroyd encountered the bear while rounding a point of rocks. In a charge the animal barred the guide's leg to the bone. Murgatroyd jammed his gun and could not shoot. Then he ran. The pace was too fast for the bear, and it turned to renew the attack on Jones, who killed it with a shot between the eyes. The others of the New York party are John McAleone, his brother Arthur and R. U. Boyd.

MOTHER WHO TRIED
TRIPLE KILLING HELD

Tells Pathetic Tale of Struggle
After Desertion by Her Husband.

Mrs. Mary McDonald, who tried to throw herself and two children under the wheels of an express Thursday in the subway at the 14th st. station, was held for the grand jury yesterday by Magistrate Murphy in Essex Market court. He said the case was complicated by the fact that two children were involved and fixed ball at $1,000.

All this happened at the afternoon session of court, the morning session having been devoted to a story of privation by Mrs. McDonald that had finally resulted in a deliberate determination to end it.
Deserted by her husband last September, she has been able to keep her family until recently, when her health broke down.
Often they went hungry, and how the children will fare now that the mother is in jail was not apparent last night.

It is probable that their aunt, Mrs.
Anna Alwer, of 79 Norwood av., Brooklyn, will look after them.

Months ago the husband and father left them, when Mrs. McDonald got a court order on him for $4 a week. Since then she has not heard from him.
